And for Those Attending Our May Meeting, the Opportunity to Hear the Esteemed Award-Winning Poet, Diane Glancy, Presenting "The Narrative Impulse."

MONTHLY MEETING REPORT
for Saturday, April 11, 2015
by Recording Secretary Barbara Blanks

President Catherine L’Herisson opened the meeting and welcomed our speaker, Terry Jude Miller from the Richmond area of Houston. Past presidents Linda Banks, Budd Powell Mahan, J. Paul Holcomb, and Jimmy Inez Sessions were also present.

Director Barbara Goerdel gave the March membership report for Membership Chair Lynn Lewis (report on page 6).

Treasurer Aman Khan gave the March financial statement. The largest expense was for printing the Bulletin.

Librarian Barbara Blanks reported on three books donated to the PST permanent collection. The two anthologies contain poems by PST members. It was not verbally announced, but at the end of the meeting, Terry Jude Miller donated copies of his three books (all books listed on page 6).

Also donated was A History of the Poetry Society of Texas by Budd Powell Mahan. This book took Budd ten years to research and write. It contains everything you could want to know about PST and its history-making people, along with wonderful black and white photos. The price is only $10. Budd also brought enlargements of several archival pictures and displayed them on a table. He urges everyone who has pictures of past PST events to send them, or copies, to him for the archives.

President L’Herisson made several important announcements and reminders:

• Barbara Lewie Berry, our March speaker, is ill. She has had two surgeries and is still in the hospital. Prayers and good thoughts for her are welcome.
• April is National Poetry Month, and there are several events going on around the state. If you or your chapter does anything special, please report to both Beth Ayers, extension chair, and Valerie Martin Bailey, Bulletin editor. Beth Ayers writes the report for NFSPS for both October Poetry Day and April Poetry Month. She must send the report by May 31. NFSPS presents certificates of participation at their summer conference.

• April 30 is Poem in Your Pocket Day. Share the poems!
• The Student Awards will be held on April 18, 2-4 p.m., in the main auditorium of the downtown Dallas Central Library. Budd Mahan asked for volunteers to help meet, greet, and register students, their families and teachers, and to hand out awards and anthologies. Budd also noted that in the Manningham Awards, PST students took a 2nd honorable mention at the senior level, and a 1st, 5th, and HM at the Junior level. Budd selects submissions from the previous year’s Student Awards winners.
• Our Summer Conference information and registration form are now on our website, and will also be included in the May Bulletin. The conference will be in Beaumont, July 16, 17, 18. Birma Castle is the conference chairman, so it’s sure to be exciting. Don’t miss the fun!

• The Fort Worth Poetry Society, in cooperation with PST, is sponsoring the William D. Barney Memorial Chapbook Contest, which begins January 1, 2016, and ends February 15, 2016. Winner receives $100 and 25 copies of the chapbook.

• Barbara Blanks was congratulated for taking 5th place in the Reader’s Digest poetry contest there were more than 4,800 entries. The top ten poems, including hers, can be read at RD.com.

The new A Book of the Year 2015 was in the room! We gave editor Linda Banks a round of applause for all her hard work. President L’Herisson read a portion of the dedication honoring Jimmye Inez Sessions, then presented her with the first copy. Members who were present received their copies at the break. The mailing committee will send the others ASAP.

Spotlight on Members Chair, Jessica Gonsoulin, introduced our Spotlight Poet, Molly Meyer, of Allen, who became interested in poetry in the 4th grade. Molly created Mind’s Eye Poetry: Rewriting Dementia, to honor and celebrate dementia patients. They contribute thoughts to a general theme, and poems are created on the spot. You can visit http://mindseyepoetry.com/ for details of this important program, and to read some of the wonderful poems. Mind’s Eye Poetry is also on Facebook.

President L’Herisson introduced our program speaker, Terry Jude Miller. A retired professor of eMarketing, he held an Innovation Fellowship at Kaplan University. While Terry has written poetry for only about six years, he’s already been published in a variety of anthologies. The creator of Texas Poets Podcast, he also founded the Facebook group, “Lunchtime Poetry Break.”

Terry presented three exercises to generate poem ideas. First, the Alphabet Exercise: Use the alphabet to jump start words in a variety of ways. Terry’s poem began, “A is the acronym of all grief / over the sudden death / of baby brother B….” Second, the Ideograms Exercise: Use anything as a symbol, then give new meaning to it. As an example, Terry wrote a poem about “e” that began, “eye with one tear/flowing.” Third, the Truth Exercise. Terry read a truth poem, which was a series of “Because,” statements that ended with a “dare.” He gave us 15 minutes to write a poem based on any of these exercises, then had several people read the results. It generated delightful laughter. Our thanks to Terry for a fun-filled and stimulating program.

After the break, Monthly Contest Chair Irene Robertson announced the winners for April, 2015 (listed on page 1).

From Our Member Chapters …

ALAMO AREA POETS
Iris Maahs Reporting

What better way to celebrate National Poetry Month than a reading by the leader and founder of the oldest poetry venue in San Antonio, Rod Stryker. He started the Sun Poetry Society in 1995. Twenty years later it’s still going strong. He talked about the sources of his poetry and where he found inspiration for his writing. Members enjoyed his presentation and look forward to a return engagement. Rod will judge the AAPT poetry contests for April.

Winners of the March open contest were: Antoinette Winstead–HM, Sheila Moore–HM, Peter Holland–HM, Don Mathis–HM, Toni Murguia–3rd place, Peggy Mott–2nd place, Iris Maahs–1st place. Winners of the March Assigned contest were: Don Mathis–HM, Peggy Mott–HM, Iris Maahs–HM, Peter Holland–3rd place, Toni Murguia–2nd place, Sheila Moore–1st place. AAPT thanks Jackie Pelham for judging both March contests and for taking time to make constructive and helpful comments.

Members voted to accept the slate of officers presented at the March meeting. Officers for 2015-2016 are: President–Iris Maahs, Vice-President–Antoinette Winstead, Treasurer–Nancy Carter, Secretary–Margaret Cook.

Antoinette Winstead invited everyone to attend the annual literary festival April 7–11 at Our Lady of the Lake University.

PST
Poetry News From Across Texas

Lea Fagin reminded members and guests of the Poetry Pot Luck and reading sponsored by the Writer’s Guild on April 9. She encouraged everyone to submit a poem he or she would like to read. There will also be a poetry reading at Landa Library to celebrate National Poetry Month.

BEAUMONT CHAPTER
Barbara Green Powell Reporting

The Beaumont Chapter is alive and well; this reporter just missed giving you the news last month.

Birma Castle is busy planning the Summer Conference to be held in Beaumont, July 16, 17, 18. She’s starting to feel like a celebrity with four pictures of her (rather, Voodoo Queen Marie Laveau) on the website. Visit www.poetrysocietyoftexas.org, click on Events, then on the 2014 Awards Banquet. You may not recognize Birma, but she invite you to join us in the fun with the theme, Partyng with Poetry, Mardi Gras Style. Birma guarantees you’ll have a wonderful time. Get out your best purple outfit and plan to Let the Good Times Roll! We are looking forward to seeing all of you poets, new and old timers.

Beaumont members meet at Calder Woods Retirement Home the third Thursday of each month from 10 a.m. till noon, then members share a meal at the Black-Eyed Pea Restaurant. Good food and conversation brings members together in a festive mood.

April’s lesson is following the imagery in “Leaves” written by T. Jervis Underwood. President Castle challenges us to use one big (unusual) word as the focus in our poems. The author uses words that will make a poet break out the dictionary. It will be interesting to see what big words our members use in their poems.

To celebrate Poetry Month, Beaumont poets hosted a reading at Barnes and Noble on April 11. We also read poetry to the residents of Calder Woods Retirement Home on April 14. This is a new endeavor, and we are searching through our poems for ones that will make residents smile.

Start now writing a poem you can bring to “You Be The Judge” contest for 2015 Summer Conference in Beaumont.

DENTON POETS’ ASSEMBLY
Richard Weatherly Reporting

The DPA’s April 25 meeting was held at the Emily Fowler Branch Library. Following announcements and a welcome to visitors, J. Paul Holcomb shared an April lesson on processes involved in submitting poetry for competition and other venues. Afterwards, members and guests shared free-choice poems.

On April 10, Masood ParvaZe, Patrick Marshall, and Richard Weatherly participated in the first NRH Poet’s Corner event, sponsored by the City of North Richland Hills. Poet’s Corner is an opportunity for poets to share their writing with the local community.

To promote National Poetry month, Patrick Marshall arranged for members of DPA, PST, and other area poets to participate in a “Taste and Talent” event on April 25, 6–9 p.m. in the Byron Nelson High School library to benefit their scholarship program.

The Merging Visions, Collections V poetry and art catalog was presented at a reception on April 23 from 5:30–7:30 p.m. The exhibition will run until May 29, 2015 in the Meadows Gallery, Patterson-Appleton Center for the Visual Arts, 400 E. Hickory in Denton. VAST collaborates with the Denton Poets’ Assembly, the Greater Denton Arts Council, and the Denton Public Library to create an annual exhibit of paired original art and poetry works to celebrate National Poetry Month. Some exhibit pairings will then travel to various Denton libraries.

DPA meets the third Saturday of the month, 10 a.m.–Noon at the Emily Fowler Central Library, 502 Oakland Street in Denton. Visit www.DentonPoetsAssembly.weebly.com

FORT WORTH POETRY SOCIETY
Anne Jones Reporting

Often a smaller group can be very productive. That was true of our April meeting. Because several members attended the International Poetry Festival in Austin, our number was reduced. However, that seemed to free us to discuss many activities to promote FWPS. Vice-president Steve Sanders opened the meeting by reading two sonnets from Lee Warner Brooks’ Novel-ettes. Brooks is one of many lawyers who are also good poets.

Don Shook and Anne Jones presented the slate of officers for the coming year. This was voted on and approved. We also discussed at length our Web page that Hilda Mendoza maintains. The site has been hacked, so she may simply start a new page. Several solutions were given, and she will look into these. Steve maintains our Facebook page and would like to have videos of our group in various poetic activities for this page.

The remainder of our business meeting was spent exploring activities to promote our group. To outsiders we may seem to be a bunch of prose old folks reading our own poetry. We want to be much more. We are the oldest poetry group in the Southwest, over 100 years old. We should be doing more. A former member, Patricia Ferguson, has returned to us, and both she and Don are interested in our producing short stage-reading plays on the lives of famous poets. Steve urged us to consider presenting some event each quarter of the year. We already do Artsgoggle in the fall. Hilda suggested Spanish-English presentations, which are well attended. Beth Neely and others thought an evening of musical poetry would be entertaining. All in all, it was a very productive evening. After poems were critiqued, Hilda read a poem by the Spanish poet, Neruda.

GULF COAST POETS
Daniel Carrington, Reporting

In April, GCP welcomed poet and novelist Chris Wise as featured reader. With a mix of wit, humor, and his trademark oration, he entertained members with a range of poems that showcased his talent for free verse as well as more traditional poetic forms. Chris’ work has been published in Nerve Cowboy, Blue Collar Review, Road Not Taken and many other publications. He is a regular contributor to Cowboys & Indians magazine. We look forward to reading Colliding with Orion, his forthcoming poetry, short stories, and essays collection in 2016 from Absey & Co.

Also, in celebration of National Poetry Month, our chapter’s founder, Mary Margaret Carlisle, led the general meeting in a focused writing activity designed around succinct prompts. The intent was to help poets spur a creative response with minimal cues and thereby, jumpstart creativity by seeking inspiration in what’s available. In addition, it illustrated the usefulness of poetry workshop exercises to power one’s muse.

MOCKINGBIRD CHAPTER
Jessica Gonsoulin Reporting

At the April 4 meeting, Beth Ayers reminded us that the Mockingbird Poetry Contest Awards Ceremony would be May 3 at 2 p.m. Members should arrive an hour early to assist guests. Over a thousand entries had been received. Beth passed around photos of her library display for poetry month.

Sylvia Medel announced the new Mockingbird anthology is at the press and should be ready within the next week.

Aman is negotiating a gathering with the McKinney Arts
Commission for a poet laureate and a workshop.

Alice Parker reminded everyone about the upcoming Barnes and Noble reading on April 18.

POETS NORTHWEST
Sharon Young Reporting

Loretta Diane Walker was the featured guest at the PNW March meeting. Poets and friends met at the Pearl Fincher Museum in Spring to hear Loretta share her poetry and the stories behind them. Attendees thoroughly enjoyed her “Cafeteria” poems and the school children who inspired them. Twenty attended, including welcomed family members of our speaker. Congratulations to Loretta on her nomination for this year’s Texas Poet Laureate.

The read-around prize was sponsored by Lisa Salinas on the subject “Leaves.” Seven members participated, and the $10 random drawing prize was won by Maxine Kohanski. Next month’s sponsor is Maxine Kohanski on the subject “Procrastination.” Nancy Leap will present the April program in honor of her mother, June Brown Leap.

Spring Fling entries are being judged, and winners will be celebrated at the upcoming May event. Visitors are welcome!

PNW meets every third Saturday of the month at the Pearl Fincher Museum in Spring. Poets and guests are encouraged to read original or favorite works during the second half of the meeting. PNW is on Facebook at www.facebook.com/PoetsNorthwest and on the Web at www.poetsnw.com.

POETS OF TARRANT COUNTY
Lynn Lewis Reporting

The April meeting of the Poets of Tarrant County was called to order by President Ron Eddins. The minutes from March were approved and a “Get Well” card for Barbara Berry was signed by the members. Vice-President Hollis Davis introduced our Featured Speaker, Keith Goodman. Keith read original poetry that dealt with “observations and contemplations of people, places, and things.” President Eddins then presented for discussion the spontaneous concept topic: What is it that moves us to shed a tear and write a poem? Assignment poems were read after the break. After the readings the meeting was adjourned by President Eddins.

RUSK COUNTRY POETRY SOCIETY
Mary Tindall Reporting

The Rusk County Poetry Society will award a $500 scholarship to the winning 12th grade poet in the Poetry in Schools event that has attracted about 500 entries, 1st through 12th grade, from all over East Texas. An anthology is being printed and County Line Magazine will print poems from the contest in the next issue. About 40 young poets will participate in the April 27 ceremony that Anne McCrady will emcee.

The RCPS recently met with ten in attendance. Spotlight Poet Joy Greenwald read “Portrait of Beth” about her mother and “A Christmas Rose” written to be set to music. Sharon Taylor presented a lesson on how characterization in poetry appears to reveal personality through actions, words, or thoughts. Carol Thompson read “Hand Work,” Sharon’s character poem about her mother. Characterization poems are to be returned at the April meeting. Yearbooks were distributed. The meeting concluded with the reading of critiqued lesson poems from Anne McCrady’s lesson on light.

SAN ANTONIO POETS ASSOCIATION
Valerie Martin Bailey Reporting

SAPA’s president, Margaret Mayberry, has moved to Florida after a long illness. An abscessed appendix resulted in widespread infection and surgery. After a long hospital stay, she was moved to a rehab center, and she has now moved to a lovely assisted living facility in West Palm Beach, Florida where her sons are nearby. She is getting stronger each day and promises to stay in touch. When she recovers she hopes to organize a group of poets in her new community.

SAPA’s vice-president, Sheila Moore, is now president and with our executive board’s approval, she appointed Pat Gibbs as the new vice-president. We are sad to lose our beloved Margaret from SAPA, but we move forward with good leadership.

Our April meeting takes place after this newsletter goes to press, but 25 members were present at our March meeting to enjoy a Poetry Theater performance by actor/poet John Eubanks and actress/poet Del Ellison. They presented two skits—one funny and one poignant. Then John and Floyd (Michaud) Lamrouex had us laughing out loud with a skit titled “Competitive Yoga.” The skits were written by John Eubanks, who recently published a poetry collection titled: Life Support of Another Sort.

Many SAPA members celebrated National Poetry Month by attending the grand Gala at the Whitley. SAPA had a table at the Gala and SAPA member, Valerie Bailey was introduced as a notable San Antonio poet by Dr. Mo Saidi, co-founder and CEO of Voices de la Luna.

SAPA members celebrated National Poetry Month by attending a grand Gala at the Whitley. Three homeless people who have benefitted from the Haven of Hope program were present to read poems and share how poetry has helped them deal with their recovery. It was an inspiring experience for all. SAPA members who attended were: Mo Saidi, Wallace and Loretta Vaughan, Joan Seifert, Pat Gibbs, Mary Cervantes, Toni Murguia, Jean Jackson, Clyta Coder, Lois Heger, Floyd (Michaud) Lamrouex, and Valerie Bailey. Sharon Turner who is on the Voices de la Luna Board and who was a table hostess was unable to attend due to illness.
TEXOMA POETRY SOCIETY
Frances Neidhardt Reporting

On April 4, in the Sherman Public Library Community Room, we met in good spirits to celebrate National Poetry Month. It takes nerve (or something) to hold a meeting on Easter Saturday afternoon. Our email flyers, newspaper article, flyers to two bookstores, an online invitation to city students who had sent or planned to send a poem to the Herald-Democrat’s “Good Morning” column for the month of April, netted us a total of 5 regulars in attendance. No guests.

Still, good spirits held, and informality reigned. At the open mic, presiding vice-president John Creighton Miller relayed with Susan McGinn and Frances Neidhardt entertaining famous quotes on the meaning of poetry. Mlb Garrard and Pat Scott joined them later when envelopes for Poems-in-the-Pocket were opened and snippets were shared. Since local community writers of poetry (12 and more) had been expected to perform as they had in former years, none of the hosts had brought poems to read. Refreshments were enjoyed.

Finally, it was announced by Frances Neidhardt that at the May meeting there will be no election. She stated that with deep regret the branch known as the Texoma Poetry Society is in process of becoming inactive. After 20 active and remarkably effective and inspiring years since being founded by Leona Welch in 1995, natural causes and circumstances within the last two years among the members have caused this to become necessary. Now, with the general inability to continue as a viable group doing the work expected of a branch, and with the gracious awareness of the Poetry Society of Texas leaders, it has come to this point. We are proud of the work accomplished. Individual Texoma Poetry Society members plan to remain active in the parent group.

WICHITA FALLS CHAPTER
Linda Smith Reporting

On February 14, seven members met with Prince Taylor as chairman. The Arts Alive! Home & Garden Festival was held that weekend, and WFPS volunteers Doc Wood and Monica McCawley were thanked for their service on our behalf. Members voted to declare Mary Barnes an Honorary Life Member of the Wichita Falls Poetry Society. She is a long-time member of the WFPS and is now in a rehab facility in Dallas. Prince presented the lesson on Valentine Poetry, and members studied examples of Shakespearean sonnets. Members will write sonnets for the March contest. Winners in the February contest were: 1st: Monica McCawley, 2nd: Doc Wood, 3rd: Linda Smith, HM: Webb Key, Geneva Rodgers, and Sheri Sutton.

The March 21 meeting of the WFPS took place in the Texas Room of the Kemp Center for the Arts. Chair for the meeting was Geneva Rodgers and her theme was “A Wee Bit O’ Green.” In the business meeting (Preparing the Ground) the minutes, by secretary Monica McCawley and the report from treasurer Webb Key were accepted. (Pruning): In old business, bylaws discussion and changes were tabled. (Planting Seeds): In new business, a Home & Garden ticket sales report will be presented at the April meeting, members signed up for programs for next year, and corrections to member information for the yearbook were made. The suggestion was made that time be built in for members to bring their original poetry to be read just to share or to ask for input on improvement. After discussion, the motion passed, and will be implemented at the next meeting. (Watering): Delicious refreshments were provided by Geneva. (Bringing Forth): Geneva presented an interesting lesson, with examples, on word play: specifically puns, malapropisms, oxymorons, spoonerisms, word coinage and poetry of the absurd. The assignment for the April contest is to write a poem of 2 to 12 lines, on any subject, using at least one of the forms studied. (Enjoying the fruits): Winners in the March contest for best Shakespearean sonnet are: 1st: Doc Wood; 2nd: Linda Smith; 3rd: Rosellen Setzle; 1HM: Geneva Rodgers; 2HM: Webb Key; 3HM: Sheri Sutton. Judge was Von S. Bourland of Happy.

MEMBERS AT LARGE
Annette Schwartz ~ Houston

On April 28, member at large Annette Schwartz will read at the Bayou Vista part of The Eagle’s Trace Retirement Community in Houston as part of a National Poetry Month celebration.

Gail Denham ~ Sunriver Oregon (news from Jan. to Apr.)
We don’t have a Texas chapter near Sunriver, so here’s my latest news: Two wins in the Quick Read, A–Z flash fiction. “The Ship” and “Sell the House” won a first place in a Pennsylvania contest. Florida State Poetry Society is using some of my poems and two poems were used in Wypoetuls newsletters. Blinders Literary Journal is using a photo I sent. “Dream Healing” was accepted by the Chicago Art contest. A 1st and 2nd were awarded in the Oklahoma contest, and I earned an HM for an April Fools poem. Pennessce is using poems and some of my photos. In February, I was featured reader in ISPS newsletter with three of my poems.

The Poetry Society of Texas in association with the Wild Horse Media Group offers an amazing opportunity for PST members.

The Edwin M. Eakin Memorial Manuscript Competition is an annual award that results in the publication of one member’s manuscript and an opportunity to read in several venues. Guidelines for the contest are in A Book of the Year and on the PST website. Deadline August 1. Previous winners include the well-known as well as newcomers. Manuscripts are judged blind by an out-of-state judge.

If you have ever dreamed of publishing a book, and you can get a manuscript ready by August 1, this is the time to take a chance at having your dream come true. Be sure to read the guidelines before submitting. That is an important first step.
