Program Chair JDarrell Kirkley introduced our Speaker, Diane Glancy, winner of the 2023 Wm. D. Barney Chapbook competition, with her manuscript, "Jawbone." Diane lives in Gainesville, Texas, near the crossroads of I-35 and the Red River. She is a member of the Denton Poets Assembly, PST, and has gone to the NFSPS conventions for over 30 years. Diane focused on her recently published book, "Psalm to Whom(e)." She said poetry is observations and arrangements of those observations—"as when the texture of the land gets transfigured into poetry." Or like the descriptive details in her poem about feeding Pete the horse. Sometimes she adds letters to words—like the 'e' in 'whome' because then she can see 'home.' And the 'w' reminds her of a picket fence. Diane noted that iambic pentameter tends to be our natural speech pattern, so while there are many different forms of poetry, prose can also be filled with prosody—that is, it can have the patterns of rhythm and sound used in poetry. She addressed questions about her writing process—which was simply sitting at her computer and writing—"to just plod along like the donkey in a field," referencing one of her poem. And about putting a book together—"You need to know what the core is—what holds it together." Diane has been writing and being published for over 40 years. Program Speaker

PST is seeking poets with an interest in presenting a program at one of our 2024 Zoom meetings. There are five openings. Programs run about 30 minutes and are "family friendly." They should include some kind of educational information such as writing tips, working with different poetry forms, preparing for and entering contests, etc. Personal poems can be used as examples but program should not consist of just reading your poems.

If you are interested, please send your contact information, a current photo, a synopsis of your program idea, and one of your poems. Your submission will be acknowledged. Dates for programs will be arranged later. Thank you for your interest in PST!

Please remit information to:

PST Needs a Monthly Contest Awards Chair
Starting Immediately

ATTENTION!

Richard Weatherly, after five years as the Monthly Contest Chair, is retiring from this role. Rich will still be available to coach the new Contest Chair. There are nine contests a year. As the monthly chair, you will collect the poems, certify them (check for participant eligibility, ensure the number of lines/characters per line requirement is met), assemble and forward the packet to a pre-selected judge, then announce the results in the PST monthly meeting. You will also conduct the process of determining the Book Prize winners with the Executive Board. One of the benefits of this role is to interact with the PST Executive Board and with judges, all accomplished poets, around the country. The Contest Chair is ineligible to enter the Monthly Contest.

President Richard Kushmaul said there are 30 pairings of poetry with art for the Merging Visions 2024 exhibit, an ekphrastic exhibition which opens May 4 at the Patterson-Appleton Arts Center in downtown Denton. A catalog of the poems and art is included.

Because DPA is committed to the hybrid style of meeting to accommodate members who live too far to drive to Denton, we invite all interested persons to contact President Richard Kushmaul (richardkdpa@gmail.com). We meet the third Saturday of the month, year-round.

Mockingbird Chapter

Brian Cummings Reporting

The Mockingbird Poetry Society met on Saturday, December 2 at the Heard-Craig Carriage House in McKinney.

President Susan Mardele presided. Attending the meeting were 12 members and three guests. There being a quorum of members at the meeting, Susan moved for the election of Lori Hawk Fyfe as vice president and Irene Robertson as treasurer. Both were approved in separate votes by unanimous acclamation.

Beth Ayers announced that entries were being accepted for the 53rd Annual Collin County Poetry Contests.

Barry Rynk reported that the 3rd Annual Art Meets Poetry Contest was underway. To date, 20 pieces of artwork and 26 poems have been submitted.

Poets Northwest

Eric Blanchard Reporting

For our October 2023 meeting, we were assigned an exercise called “Refrigerator Magnet” poetry. Using a random-word generator, participants composed verse using as many of the 25 randomly generated words as we could. This exercise allowed Poets Northwest members to demonstrate their talents with an eclectic use of free-flowing thought or through painstaking manipulation, leading to some very impressive results.

At the November 2023 meeting, we celebrated the release of Poets Northwest’s 2023 member-sourced anthology, Dreams + Nightmares, in which 20 of our members contributed a total of 52 poems. Contributors in attendance read their included poems to the delight of all who were present. As usual, many wonderful poems were also shared during the read-around portion of our monthly meetings.

Poets Northwest welcomes visitors and guests. If you happen to be in the area, feel free to join one of our monthly meetings on the third Saturday of the month. Please contact PNW via social media for more information. Members and guests are encouraged to read original or favorite works during the second half of each monthly meeting. Our PST chapter is on the web at <http://www.poetsnw.com>, on Facebook at <http://facebook.com/PoetsNorthwest>, on Twitter as @HoustonPoets, and on Instagram as poetsnorthwest.

Rusk County Poetry Society

Janet R. Tyner Reporting

On November 16, 2023, ten members and guests of the Rusk County Poetry Society met at the multi-purpose building of South Main Church of Christ in Henderson. President Mary Tindall opened by reading “Joy Is” by Jerry Hardesty, which was published in the PST 2023 A Book of the Year. Congratulations were extended to Richard Hurzeler, Jackie McVey, Sue Roberts, Carol Thompson, Mary Tindall, and Janet Tyner for their winning poems in the 2023 PST Annual Contests. Several poets read some of their writing: Donna Farmer, Richard H., Jo Morrow, Sue R., Carol T., and Janet T.

Our spotlight poet, Carol Thompson, shared three poems about special people and times in her life. She then presented a lesson on lyric poetry, which explored its personal and musical natures. Lyric poems are usually short, focused on one subject, and can be written in various forms; however, the lyric poem always intends to evoke an emotional response in the reader. Carol shared a rondeau by Barbara Blanks, which won first place in the lyric category of the PST Annual Contests. The writing prompt from this lesson is to write either a lyric poem in any suitable format or a rondeau.

The next RCPS gathering will be a holiday potluck lunch on December 14, 2023, at the home of Jo Morrow in Henderson. Non-perishable food items will be collected and donated to “We Care Too” in Arp, Texas.

Mary T. closed the meeting by reading “Let Poetry Speak” by Doris Brogan, published in the PST 2023 A Book of the Year.
